HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

The ClearShares Piton Intermediate Fixed Income ETF (PIFI) enjoyed positive performance in the 12-month period ending 5/31/26. PIFI also outperformed broad fixed income indices, as short and intermediate maturities recorded higher total returns than longer duration bonds. Both government bonds and corporate debt performed well during the period. Interest rates saw large swings, as policies created uncertainty about controlling inflation. In 2025, the Fed paused their easing cycle, as fiscal policy stoked inflation fear. Our top-down approach and macro strategy will drive our approach to altering duration, sector rotation and credit quality as the year unfolds.
